

Your Voice Care Team (current as of Sept. 15, 2010)

Janis Deane, M.Ed., CCC-SLP is a Speech-Language Pathologist with six years of classical voice training and more than 25 years of experience working with patients with voice disorders. She also specializes in swallowing disorders and voice restoration following total laryngectomy. She received her degree from the University of North Carolina, Greensboro. Ms. Deane is an avid instrumentalist and has performed with the Dallas Opera Orchestra.

Amy Hamilton, MA, CCC-SLP is a Speech-Language Pathologist specializing in assessing and treating voice disorders and in working with the professional voice. Amy is a classically trained singer of 18 years. She received a Bachelor's degree in Music Education with an emphasis in choral music from Baylor University and a Master's degree in Communication Sciences and Disorders from the University of Texas at Austin. She also received vocology certification from the University of Iowa's Vocology Institute at the Denver Center for the Performing Arts. Amy completed her clinical fellowship at St. Vincent's Voice Center in Indianapolis and was a voice therapist at Baylor All-Saints Medical Center in Ft. Worth before joining the team at UT Southwestern.

Ted Mau, MD, PhD is Assistant Professor of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery and Director of the Clinical Center for Voice Care. He received his undergraduate and medical degrees from Harvard and PhD in Biophysics from the University of California, San Francisco, where he also completed his residency. He then completed a fellowship in Laryngology and Care of the Professional Voice at Vanderbilt University Medical Center. Dr. Mau joined the faculty at UT Southwestern in August 2008. He has been a member of various choirs in Boston and San Francisco since 1990. He is married to a cellist and currently sings with the Arts District Chorale in Dallas.

Barbara Schultz, MD is Associate Professor of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery and has been on the faculty at UT Southwestern since 1994. She received her medical degree at The University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in 1980 and Otolaryngology residency training at UT Southwestern. She has served on the board of the Dallas Academy of Otolaryngology. She has also served as a board member for the Orpheus Chamber Singers, a highly acclaimed a cappella vocal group in Dallas and continues to volunteer for this extraordinary group. Dr. Schultz has sung soprano in her church choir since 1995. She also enjoys horseback riding, power yoga, fishing, reading and spending time with her husband, Dr. Bruce Mickey and their two sons.